

Our website in 5 languages

We've updated our website to ensure even easier and more intuitive access. You can now navigate it in Italian, French, German, and Spanish, in addition to English, making it easier for motorcyclists around the world to browse.

We are also working on further improvements to make it even more responsive.

Rinaldi at the Enduro World Championship

The young and talented rider Enrico Rinaldi is set to make his debut in the prestigious Senior Enduro World Championship (Paulo Duarte FIM EnduroGP World Championship), marking a significant milestone in his career.

The championship consists of eight challenging rounds across Europe, which Enrico will tackle with our Climber XC/XC-R tyres, available in different compounds to ensure the best performance on any terrain. This collaboration also represents an important opportunity for the development and enhancement of the Climber range.

Aprilia Tuono 457

After the success of the RS457, Protorq Extreme will equip the new Aprilia Tuono 457, strengthening a partnership based on a shared vision of innovation, passion, and uncompromising performance.

Designed to guarantee maximum grip and precision, Protorq Extreme perfectly meets the needs of motorcyclists looking for high performance, both on the road and on the track.

Its advanced technology ensures safety, durability, and reliability in all conditions.

Climber XC-R Soft Review

The Climber XC-R Soft was put to the test during the Volterra-Piombino enduro event, covering over 500 km of technical trails.

Mounted on the rear of a KTM EXC 250 4T, paired with the Climber XC front tyre, it provided exceptional grip on slippery climbs, rocky descents, and mixed terrains.

The soft compound ensured a perfect balance between grip and durability, showing remarkable wear resistance, even on asphalted sections.

The full review is available here.

